

Transformation of Pasture Landscapes on the Shimousa Plateau 1672-1862

Mariko MIYAMOTO

Department of Natural Environmental Studies, Institute of Frontier Sciences, The University of Tokyo International Workshop on Sustainable City Region

Mixed Land Use in Suburban Area of Tokyo Metropolitan Area

Green spaces in suburban area was focused to be conserve as a volume during rapid economic growth period

Now we need to reevaluate quality of remaining green spaces

We need to know city region formation historically

Fig. 1 Kisoji Meisho Zue ('Notable sites of Kiso') drawn by Rito Akisato (1805)

Objectives : How pasture land uses shape landscape of today ?

- 1) clarify pasture land uses
- 2) reveal pasture utilizations
- 3) examine how pasture land uses shape the landscape of today

Study Area : Government Controlled Pasture – Kogane-maki-

Fig.2 Location of Kanto Plain

Fig.3 Location of government's pasture

Fig.4 Location of Kogane-maki

Result : Pasturelands land use in 1672

Fig. 5 Original map of Kogane-maki Shuhennoezu (1672) Fig.6 Traced Drawing of Kogane-maki Shuhen Noezu (1672)

Fig. 7 Section Diagram of Kogane-maki Shuhennoezu (1672)

Result : Pasturelands land use in 1862

Fig.8
Original map of Kogane-maki Ezu (1862)

Fig.9
Traced Drawing of Kogane-maki Ezu (1862)

Fig.10 Section Diagram of Kogane-maki Ezu (1862)

Conclusion:

Government's pastureland was located on upland

Pasturelands were maintained by neighboring village's farmers

Pasturelands land use was changed vast grasslands to pasture woodlands during Edo era (1603-1862) to make charcoal and fuelwoods to sell in Edo city.

Future Research:

Examine how pastureland land use affect land use pattern after modernization

Thank you for your attention!

If you have any comments and advices, please come to my poster!

